

NECOEM Annual Conference COVID Protocols 2022

With a live, in person event planned for this year, the safety and health of all attendees is paramount. The Marriott Hotel in Newton continues to adhere to all local and state regulations, with housekeeping entering only on request and availability of hand sanitizing stations.

The Annual Conference Committee has as a priority the safety of all faculty and attendees. Therefore, all presenters, vendors, attendees and other faculty are expected to be fully vaccinated and boosted to attend this event in person. Masking requirement decisions will be made depending on public health recommendations at the time of the Conference.

Attendees who have had a recent COVID exposure, or are symptomatic with fever, cough, congestion, difficulty breathing, aches, nausea, loss of taste or smell, or are generally feeling unwell, should not attend in person, but can use the virtual portal to participate.

These COVID safety procedures will be updated as conditions evolve, and further communications will be forthcoming.

We are looking forward to seeing everyone, hopefully healthy and in person this year!

David V. Diamond, MD, FACOEM

Penny Allyson Clark, RN, BSN, COHN-S/CM, FAAOHN

Conference Co-Chairs 2022

 Registration for the virtual option is the same as in person.